CEO Stan Little: Gameday... we'll get you there!

Stan Little: Southern Airways/Mokulele Chairman and CEO

Fall is here, and for so many of us, that brings thoughts of football. Whether it's Friday night high school games in our hometowns, Saturdays at our college alma maters, or Sunday afternoons on tv, we know that autumn is arriving when football starts. This year, it will be great to get back to full stadiums and tailgating with friends!

Southern Airways has taken an active role in getting fans to games since our very earliest days. In our first few years, we flew on gameday Saturdays to places like Athens, Georgia and Auburn, Alabama. One year, a special Southern Airways MD-80 even took 150 lucky fans from Jackson, Mississippi to Miami for the Orange Bowl. (That flight sold out in less than an hour!)

This year, we're pleased to offer gameday flights from our newest city, Chadron, Nebraska. Cornhuskers fans in

Chadron will be able to take a short flight to Lincoln for each conference game this season, eliminating the usual four-hour drive. That's another great benefit of being a Southern Airways city.

We have a few other milestones this fall, too. We've ordered our first larger aircraft, a 30-seat Saab 340, which will arrive in the Hawaiian islands in November. Our passengers on Molokai and Lanai are going to enjoy the additional peak-day service on this aircraft when demand is highest.

Perhaps the biggest news this summer and fall is the roll-out of our newest alliance: an inter-line partnership with United Airlines. Southern and Mokulele passengers can now book thousands of connections worldwide at iFlySouthern.com on our partners Alaska, American, and United. It's truly one-stop shopping for the best fares and connections around the globe!

As we continue to grow our fleet, our route map, and our alliances, we remain primarily focused on the most important part of our company—our passengers. Thank you for being the reason we go to work every day and for continuing to fly Southern Airways and Mokulele Airlines.

Onward and upward,

Zippo

"We wouldn't be around today if it weren't for those folks here in Bradford who stuck with my grandfather in the 1930's, and I hope we've paid that back to this city over the past 90 years." — GEORGE DUKE, ZIPPO CEO

CEO STAN LITTLE SITS DOWN WITH ZIPPO CEO GEORGE DUKE

In 1936, my great-grandfather started a cotton yarn company in our hometown of Humboldt, Tennessee in the middle of the Great Depression. Five generations later, it's one of the largest employers in that small town of 8000 people. When I learned that the Zippo Lighter Company had a similar origin in our Southern Airways community of Bradford, Pennsylvania, I knew I had to meet its CEO and learn more about a local, family company with roots similar to my own. CEO George Duke and I sat down together for an hour this summer to chat.

Zippo CEO George Duke.

Stan Little: George, it's great to meet you. I wish we were in person, but in Covid-times, we'll have to settle for Zoom. I would guess that most folks in the western world know about Zippo lighters. It was your grandfather who invented the Zippo, right?

George Duke: Nice to meet you, too, Stan. Yes, it was my grandfather, George Blaisdell, who started Zippo here in Bradford in 1932. It was a very small company during the Depression, but we really got "put on the map" during WWII. In fact, during the War, the public couldn't even buy a Zippo lighter—they all went to the troops. My granddad actually became friends with General Eisenhower and with Ernie Pyle because we were supplying the Army with so many lighters overseas.

SL: And was it an immediate success?

GD: No—Before the War, the company struggled for many years. In fact, there were a couple of times when my grandfather wasn't able to make payroll. But his employees stuck with him through the tough times, and when things got better, he decided to repay their loyalty by declaring that no Zippo lighter would ever be manufactured anywhere but Bradford, Pennsylvania. In 2022, we will have kept that promise for 90 years!

SL: Smoking was still very popular back then—and even through the 1980's. I remember getting my first Zippo lighter when I went off to college in 1990. Now that most Americans have quit smoking, has that hurt sales at your company?

GD: Not at all. Would you believe that most buyers of Zippo lighters today are collectors? And, you mentioned earlier that Zippo is known "throughout the western world." Our biggest markets now are actually in Asia, with China and Japan leading our growth. We'll make more lighters this year here in Bradford than at any point in our history—over 13 million, in fact.

"WE'RE ONE OF THE FEW COMPANIES IN AMERICA THAT'S BEEN ABLE TO SUCCESSFULLY TRADEMARK A SOUND WITH THE U.S. PATENT & TRADEMARK OFFICE. THE ZIPPO SOUND IS TRULY UNIQUE – AND IT'S LEGALLY OURS!"

SL: That's truly incredible, George. You know, one of the most identifiable things, to me, about a Zippo lighter is the sound it makes when you open and close the top. It's just unmistakable. Have you had copycats who've tried to profit off your success?

GD: Oh, absolutely. Many, many times. And especially in China. We're one of the few companies in America that's been able to successfully trademark a sound with the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office. The Zippo sound is truly unique—and it's legally ours! Harley Davidson tried to trademark the sound of their motorcycles, and they couldn't do it. But we saw their attempt and wanted to do it ourselves—and we did it!

SL: So how do you know when someone is being a copycat? The world is a big place...

GD: Zippo distributors worldwide are our eyes and ears looking out for copycats, and we aggressively go after companies who attempt to steal the Zippo design and sound.

SL: I hope you're able to take them to court right there in Bradford!

SL: In your mind, what does Zippo mean to Bradford and what does Bradford mean to Zippo?

GD: You know, we've been here so long, and we rarely publicize what we do in the community. It's just a great relationship. We wouldn't be around today if it weren't for those folks here in Bradford who stuck with my grandfather in the 1930's, and I hope we've paid that back to this city over the past 90 years.

Stan Little: It sure sounds like you have, George. It's been a real pleasure spending time with you, and I look forward to seeing you in person the next time I'm back in Bradford, PA. I hope Southern's new service to Washington-Dulles will be useful to your team when they're headed to China and Japan!

George Duke: We appreciate Southern Airways making Bradford a one-stop Gateway to the World.

In 2022, Zippo will celebrate 90 years of production in Bradford, PA.

Zippo grew from a humble Bradford birth in 1932 to a world-wide brand.

An Un-conventional Thanksgiving Dinner

My family has an unconventional Thanksgiving tradition we will be starting this year. It will continue to be a day we reflect on everything we have and everything that we are grateful for yet it will be a day that will bring a bit of diversity and exposure of American subcultures to our dinner table. Instead of the traditional turkey, sweet potatoes, green bean casserole and other Thanksgiving staples, we will be serving menu items from different regions across the United States. Think of it like a potluck, sampling dishes from around the country that are appropriate for the season. Take a look at some of our favorite recipes from the regions that Southern Airways flies to that will be on our dinner table this Thanksgiving.

■ CALIFORNIA HAIRCOT VERT AND WHITE BEANS IN A SHALLOT VINAIGRETTE

This elegant, bright side dish brings sunny California to your Thanksgiving table. Visit Blythe's Blog for this recipe that features green and white beans in a tangy, yet sweet dressing.

■ THE ROCKIES ROCKY MOUNTAIN GORGONZOLA POTATOES

This delicious side dish recipe by Jam Hands will have you excited for those Thanksgiving leftovers. Tender, roasted potatoes covered in a hot gorgonzola sauce will be the perfect side item for this regional Thanksgiving celebration.

■ HAWAI'I KALUA PUA

Kalua Pua is a long-standing Hawaiian recipe and is often served at luaus. It is an easy recipe with simple ingredients that pack a big flavor.

■ NEW ENGLAND BOILED CIDER PIE

This New England classic needs to be brought back! A pie made out of one of autumn's favorite drinks, sparkling apple cider. Visit Life Hacker for this New England favorite.

■ NEW YORK WALDORF SALAD

Few things scream New York like the famous Waldorf Salad. A chilled dish that can be served as a side or appetizer that provides a crunchy texture and classic fall flavor profile.

■ MID-ATLANTIC BAY SPICED ROAST TURKEY

If it just doesn't feel like Thanksgiving without a turkey, then this Eating Well Bay Spiced Turkey recipe is for you. With those classic Mid-Atlantic flavors of bay, mustard and sweet paprika, you will escape on a journey through Maryland with just one bite.

■ SOUTHERN REGION BACON COLLARD GREENS

Collard greens are just about as Southern as it gets. This Southern side dish is a crowd-pleaser when sprinkled with crispy bacon. Pro Tip: Glaze the bacon with maple syrup before topping off the collard greens. The sweetness will bring a nice balance to the entire dish.

EXPERIENCING CHINATOWN, HONOLULU

The Chinatown Historic District is a neighborhood located in Honolulu, Hawaii. Established in the 1800s, it is one of the oldest Chinatowns in the United States. Originally, this area is where immigrant Chinese families began to establish family-owned businesses. In the mid-1800s an influx of contract laborers came to Hawaii to work on the sugar plantations, the majority of them signing 5-year work contracts. Once these contracts expired many of the Chinese immigrants moved to Honolulu's Chinatown in search of work or the opportunity to open their own businesses. Today, Chinatown has maintained its heritage while maturing into a thriving multicultural hub that features a diverse selection of ethnic restaurants, shopping, and a growing art scene.

Sample Diverse Cultures through Dining

Chinatown has several award-winning restaurants for you to choose from. Stroll the neighborhood and you will come across restaurants offering ramen, pizza, guava-covered lamb chops and so much more. Whether you're looking for an ethnic dining experience or a sampling of ethnic street food, you will find a taste bud pleasing encounter.

Experiencing Nightlife

Bar hopping is easy in Chinatown Honolulu due to the close proximity of the bars. You will discover dive bars next to chic craft cocktail bars as you experience the energy of walking Chinatown. Check out Encore Saloon for a bar with a Mexican menu and flare or Murphy's Bar and Grill for a taste of a traditional Irish Pub experience.

First Fridays

First Fridays are a recurring event that takes place in Chinatown on the first Friday of every month. Essentially, First Fridays are block parties full of exhibits, live music, food and art as you walk the streets of Chinatown. You will discover experiences unique to Hawaii culture, food & drink specials and extended hours for most businesses.

Shopping

Chinatown Honolulu is full of antique stores, eclectic shops and of course traditional local gifts. In addition to these trendy shops you will also see many traditional markets and stores where you can find flowers, fresh fruit and a plethora of Chinese goods. You will find some of the best shops to purchase leis while wandering Maunakea Street. These are handmade and sometimes you can even submit a special request for specific flowers and colors.

Soak up the Art Scene

Bethel Street is where you will discover most of the art shops in Chinatown. Wander the streets to find local paintings, sculptures and more. Don't forget to visit the Hawaii Theatre Center! This 100 year old venue is home to symphonies, comedy acts, musicals and more.

7 TAGOVAILOA:

WHERE HE CAME FROM AND WHERE HIS SIGHTS ARE SET

"Tua" Tagovailoa (TUNG-oh-vy-LOW-uh) has become one of the NFL's most talked-about quarterbacks coming into his second season; however, being in the spotlight is something the Miami Dolphin's quarterback is used to.

Tua was born to Galu and Diane Tagovailoa in 1998 in 'Ewa Beach, O'ahu in Hawaii. His parents acknowledge Tua's intense passion for football started from a young age, remarking that as a small child he would often sleep with a football under his arm. While playing with the Pop Warner youth football program, Tua was said to be able to throw a ball 30 yards while his peers would throw an average of 10 yards. This all to the delight of his childhood inspiration, Seu Tagovailoa, his grandfather who was so respected in the Samoan community he was often referred to as "Chief". The two were said to be so close that Tua almost quit football when Seu passed away, but, Galu helped him see that playing would honor his grandfather more than quitting would.

Tua attended High School at Saint Louis School in Honolulu. Mentored by fellow Hawaiian native, former St. Louis Alum, Heisman Trophy winner and current NFL quarterback, Marcus Mariota, Tua flourished. In his senior year Tua threw for 2,669 yards and 27 touchdowns. He played in the All-American Bowl and became a part of the Elite 11 roster.

Tua's rise to the national eye came in the form of a scholarship offer to play with college football powerhouse, the Alabama Crimson Tide. In his freshman year, Tua found himself backing up future NFL quarterback, Jalen Hurts. Under the watchful training of Alabama Head Coach Nick Saban, Tua once again thrived hitting the spotlight when he was brought in after halftime to replace Hurts who was struggling in the National Championship game. Tua threw a touchdown pass in overtime that lifted the Crimson Tide 26-23 over the Bulldogs. He was honored as the CFP National Championship's Offensive MVP.

Despite a devastating injury during his junior year, Tua's career at Alabama was impressive enough to garner the attention of many NFL teams. During his 3 years playing with the Crimson Tide, he had a 69% completion rating and threw for 87 touchdowns with only 11 interceptions. He rushed for an additional 9 more touchdowns on the ground.

Tua's hip injury during his junior year had an impact on his draft stock. Originally, a projected #1 overall draft pick, he fell to the 5th overall pick by the Miami Dolphins. His rookie year didn't quite meet the expectations most had for him; however, his record lends hope to his full potential. For a successful sophomore year, Tua will need to grow more comfortable and confident in his ability and team. The Miami Dolphins recognize this and have brought on two receivers, one of which Tua has played with while playing for the Crimson Tide, Jaylen Waddle, in addition to numerous other draftees and free agents. The familiarity of Waddle as well as these additional players should bring the confidence he needs to ramp up downfield throws to successfully lead his team.

The talent of football runs deep in the Tagovailoa family. Tua's younger brother, Taulia is following in his big brother's footsteps by transferring to the Maryland Terrapins in 2020 after backing up his brother while playing for the

HIS PARENTS ACKNOWLEDGE TUA'S INTENSE PASSION FOR FOOTBALL STARTED FROM A YOUNG AGE, REMARKING THAT AS A SMALL CHILD HE WOULD OFTEN SLEEP WITH A FOOTBALL UNDER HIS ARM.

Alabama Crimson Tide. The dual-threat quarterbacks will continue to bring honor to their family and fellow native Hawaiians through their football legacies and futures. We will watch with great hope and anticipation for the 2021 NFL season as Tua takes the next step to establish himself as a top-tier NFL quarterback.

We are confident that Seu Tagovailoa, Tua's grandfather, looks on with pride as Tua E kūlia i ka nu'u (strives to reach his highest).

Chadron is one of the newest additions to the Southern Airways route map. It is a town of about 6,000 people and is located in the northwestern part of Nebraska. We want to show you around this quaint little town and its surrounding areas to help you discover the charm of Chadron.

History

Chadron began in 1885 as three separate railroads were built running through this area en route to Wyoming. It expanded beyond a few wooden shacks, a couple of dirt roads and its reputation for fur-trading to become the economic leader in the Nebraska Panhandle that it is today.

Attractions

Museum of Fur Trade | The museum stands on the site of the original James Bordeaux's post that was established in 1837 as the American Fur Company. It houses over 6,000 artifacts that display what life was like in early America for fur traders and Native Americans in the West.

Funded by a $5,000 Carnegie grant, it was built in 1913 by architect George A. Berlinghof for just $100. Wander the grounds to appreciate the Neoclassical architecture and go inside to enjoy an afternoon of book browsing.

Fort Robinson History Center | Fort Robinson is a former U.S. Army fort located about 30 minutes southwest of Chadron in the Fort Robinson State Park. Declared a National Historic Landmark in 1960, the post began in 1874 as a temporary encampment during the Indian Wars. Today, you will find original buildings (including a 1904 blacksmith shop and an 1887 officers' quarters), a playhouse that was once a quartermaster's store building and various exhibits including a theatre that produces live shows during the summer months.

Nebraska National Forest | This National Forest is open year-round and includes various places to go hiking, biking, horseback riding, camping and even hunting. It is split into 2 districts: The Bessey Ranger District (90,000-acres) and the Pine Ridge Ranger District (52,000-acres). Each offering their own unique experiences.

PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND: HISTORIC, GHOSTLY SITES

Who says Halloween time can't be a little creepy and a little educational? We have compiled a list of the top places in Providence, Rhode Island with some historical depth and maybe even a few ghostly secrets, the question is: Do you dare to explore them?

■ Providence City Hall

Built in 1878 by architect Samuel J.F. Thayer, Providence City Hall is rich in history. Even being the site where Presidents Teddy Roosevelt and John F. Kennedy had once given speeches on these very steps. It is said by City Hall workers that "something" rides the elevator at haphazard times, moves chairs around, open drawers and whispers throughout the building. You can personally tour Providence City Hall to see if you encounter any paranormal activities for yourself.

Haunted Providence City Hall

■ Rhode Island School of Design

Since 1877, the Rhode Island School of Design opened with the intent to help women access design education. It has since been the home of many famous alumni including Claire Daines and Seth MacFarlane. Multiple buildings on campus are said to be haunted. With claims of apparition's reflections being displayed in mirrors, unknown footsteps down halls and lights flickering on their own, this is definitely one of Rhode Islands creepiest sites to explore.

■ Crescent Park Looft Carousel

This hand-carved carousel was built in 1895 by Charles I. D. Looft at his Brooklyn, New York factory. It is now located in Crescent Park in the Riverside section of East Providence. It is said that the spirits of those who perished in a major nearby fire in the 1960s haunts the ride by turning the music on at random, flashing the lights and employees have even reported seeing nearby apparitions of a woman in a hoop skirt.

America's Most Haunted Hotel

■ The Biltmore Hotel

Said to be one of the most haunted hotels in all of Rhode Island, the Biltmore was named America's Most Haunted hotel in all of the United States in the year 2000. It opened in 1922 and currently houses 292 rooms. It has been featured in numerous movies and has influenced writers such as Stephen King and Robert Bloch to gain inspiration for terrifying fictional accommodations such as the Overlook Hotel and the Bates Motel. With a deep history of treacherous occurrences and historical events, the hotel has long been associated with a powerful connection to darkness. Guests and employees often report the sounds of rowdy parties pouring out from empty rooms during all hours of the night, dancers dancing across the hotel ballroom floor and of course, some ghostly wanderers.

FULL OF HISTORY AND GHOSTS

Just a few short minutes down the road from Hanscom sits the historic location of Concord, MA. The site of the first battles of the Revolutionary War. Home to such influential poets and novelists like Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry David Thoreau and many more. Concord isn't just full of history, it also has a long history of ghostly activity.

■ Haunted Tour of Concord

Coming from Hanscom, your first stop on a haunted tour of Concord is the Old North Bridge. Step out into the parking lot by the Old North Bridge and you will see the Robbins House. By day it is a wonderful memorial depicting the history of Concord's African American community. By night there are stories of misty figures roaming the property, but that is only the start. Cross the street and you will come to a walkway leading to the Old North Bridge. Ghosts of America's early struggles for independence have been seen crossing the bridge, while other stories tell of seeing shadowy figures, perhaps those of the British Soldiers and provincials who died at the start of the Battles of Lexington and Concord.

■ Minute Man National Park

Further venturing into history we come to Minute Man National Park. The park not only houses relics from the Revolutionary War but it is the site for the Wayside Home of Authors and more recently it is frequented by paranormal investigation groups. Ghost hunting is not limited to adults. The park even offers a Halloween Lantern Walk through the roads to meet the spirits of 1775.

■ Sleepy Hollow Cemetery

The next stop on the haunted tour of Concord is to a cemetery. It isn't hard to imagine a cemetery being creepy but with a name like Sleepy Hollow, how could it not be haunted? Sleepy Hollow Cemetery is the final resting place for many famous and notable people. Author's Ridge alone is where you can find the graves of Emerson, Thoreau, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Louisa May Alcott, William Ellery Channing, and some of the most frequent haunted happenings. Misty figures, moving shadows, and faint voices have all been reported on the grounds of this early American cemetery.

■ Colonial Inn: One of the Most Haunted Inns

The last stop is certainly the best bet for those ghost hunters. Welcome to the Colonial Inn. Built in 1716, this iconic inn has a history of frequent ghost sightings dating back to a young honeymooning couple who reported seeing a ghost in their room back in 1966. Since then, the Ghost in Room 24 has been a major draw for those looking for a spooky adventure. The popularity of potential ghost sightings has grown so much that Concord is a regular stop for ghost tours from as far away as Boston. Concord: Special and Spook Concord has so much to offer visitors. For many Concord has everything you picture as being part of New England. The historical significance, quaint town setting, and now haunted happenings all go into making Concord special and spooky.

AUTUMN IN THE OZARKS

Autumn in the Ozarks is a magnificent season. Small towns dot the sprawling mountains like scattered leaves across an open field, each defined by its own local color, making a lovely drive for those with a wandering spirit. You'll find towns all around the Ozarks that provide weekends of wonder with gourmet dining and welcoming accommodations that offer relaxation after a full day of exploring the places that exude Southern charm. Here are two of our favorite small towns.

HARRISON, ARKANSAS

With its downtown lake and historic town square, Harrison has been recognized as one of the "Best Small Towns in America". As the gateway to the Buffalo National River, numerous opportunities await outdoor lovers on land and water. And when it's time for a fall festival, Harrison's got you covered with a full calendar of events planned throughout the season.

■ View Fall Foliage in Harrison

A short 20-minute drive from Harrison you will find Buffalo National River. Here, you can spend your day hiking trails, floating down the river and exploring the gorgeous fall colors in all their glory.

■ Dining in Harrison

- Jamie's Local Flavor offers an experience in the flavors of the Ozarks from fried catfish to fall-off-the-bone ribs.
- Devito's is known for its local trout prepared in eight different ways, plus numerous Italian specialties.

Hotel Seville Lobby

Beautiful Hawsbill Crag

■ Harrison Lodging

- Hotel Seville is a historic inn in the heart of downtown Harrison. The boutique hotel opened in 1929 and features elaborate Spanish Revival/Mission-style architecture. A magnificent chandelier hangs over the lobby resplendent with plaster carvings and a grand split staircase. Seville Hotel was added to the National Register of Historic Places in the mid-1990s and is now one of Choice Hotel's Ascend Collection properties. The rooms are generous in size. You will also be delighted to find a fine dining option at on-site the Terrazzo Dining Room.

Cloud9 Tip: With just 81 rooms, Seville Hotel books up quickly, particularly in the fall when leaf peepers come to view the colors, bikers come to ride the roads and the cooler air offers a wonderful break for all. It is best to book a room in as far in advance as possible.

Additional area accommodations are as follows:

- Holiday Inn Express and Suites
- Hampton Inn Harrison

HOT SPRINGS

Take a step back in time in historic Hot Springs. You'll fall under its spell once you get into town, but once you come to, you'll want to soak in its healing waters, something people have known about for hundreds of years. While shopping its antique markets is a classic favorite, visiting the Gangster Museum of America should be at the top of any visitor's bucket list as few know about the town's connection to notorious fellows such as Al Capone and Lucky Luciano.

Hot Springs outdoors is gorgeous and offers a bounty of recreational possibilities. The town boasts one of the country's oldest national parks where you can tour Bathhouse Row and its eight historic bathhouses built over naturally occurring hot springs in the late 1800s. Two bathhouses, Quapaw and Buckstaff, are still functioning and allow guests to soak their cares away in warm thermal waters.

Bathhouse Row Hot Springs

Local fall color abounds

■ View Fall Foliage in Hot Springs

Hot Springs National Park is known for viewing those beautiful fall colors. This national park is unique from others across the country because the downtown area of Hot Springs and the historic bathhouses are included inside this park. Due to these inclusions, most people do not think of this park as a great place for fall foliage but it is one of the best places in all of Arkansas to experience those bountiful fall colors.

■ Hot Springs Dining

Foodies will fall in love with Hot Springs, from the barbecue at McClard's to deep-fried catfish from Fisherman's Wharf. In addition to these local favorites consider trying the following:

- Luna Bella is a chic Italian eatery that consistently ranks as a favorite in the city. Lobster and shrimp risotto is a top-seller right along with veal osso buco and pan-roasted halibut.
- Steinhaus Keller creates culinary magic that will transport you into the heart of Bavaria with dishes such as Black Forest Schnitzel and braised beef roast sauerbraten.

■ Lodging in Hot Springs

When night draws near, settle into a room at Arlington Resort Hotel and Spa. A magnificent hotel that opened in 1875, boasts 500 elegant rooms and is the largest in the state. Adjacent to Bathhouse Row, the hotel is conveniently located across the street from museums, art galleries, antique shops and more.

Other top picks include:

- The Waters Hot Springs, a member of Hilton's Tapestry Collection.
- Hotel Hale, offering a one-of-a-kind experience in one of just nine guest rooms with mineral water piped into each.
